

MR. COMB'S ADDRESS

He Gives the Public Specifications as to Frauds That Defeated Yerkes.

NO CONTEST FOR GOVERNOR.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18.—Chairman Combs, of the Republican State campaign committee, issued the following address to the public at noon yesterday:

TO THE PUBLIC.

In closing its work the Republican State executive committee desires to make some statement of the results of the recent election, and the conditions under which it was held.

That this election was held under the Goebel law was not an accident, but was a deliberate purpose, decided upon by the controlling influences in the Goebel Democracy months ago, and it was held under that election law because they did not dare to go before the people with any less power to defraud of them of their electoral rights than was given them under that infamous measure.

That they were right in this view of the condition of public opinion in the State of Kentucky has been demonstrated by the results of the election just closed.

With the bold, wholesale frauds in Breathitt, Greenup, Warren, Fayette and Logan; with the refusal to count hundreds upon hundreds of Republican ballots, where the intention of the voter was evident, upon trivial objections, grounds for which had in nearly every instance, been prepared by the Goebel election officers themselves or their confederates; with the decision of every Democratic challenged voter in favor of the Democrats, and with the decision of every challenged Republican voter against the Republicans, without following the provisions of the law; with Democratic officers of election in the booth, in places with arms and badges of deputy sheriff; with an unfair review of the ballots by the county commissioners in many places, and a secret session for the purpose of making an official count in others; with precincts showing Republican majorities thrown out upon technicalities in some counties, and Democratic precincts, where the same irregularities existed, counted in other counties, the Goebel commissioners have only been able to show a plurality of votes for Mr. Beckham as governor.

The aggregate of the specific frauds above described would have elected John W. Yerkes as governor, without considering the frauds committed under the Goebel law this year, that have been more artfully concealed, and which were far more extensive and systematic than last year. The calculation of the democratic managers as to the amount of fraud necessary to secure the election on the fact of the returns was more nicely counted, but enough of the facts are apparent to any candid mind to establish the humiliating admission that the will of the people of this state has been overthrown once more by fraud. This committee has uniformly declared against objection being made to democratic ballots by its representatives, aggregating over a thousand, which had been regularly cast and counted, but had failed to comply with the requirements of bill 10. It has sought to avail itself of nothing that would obstruct a fair ballot and an honest count. It recognizes the high standard of patriotism exhibited by the Republicans in the state in the subordination of jealousy and rivalry, in the fact of the great fight we were waging, and we especially commend as an example to right thinking people of every party the magnificent display of patriotism that showed forth in the action of thousands of democrats in the state, who voted with us for honesty in elections, and for the preservation of our own rights and those of future generations.

The result of this election, when thoughtfully considered, is full of hope and without discouragement. As long as we can show a substantial growth of strength in behalf of the great principles for which we are contending we may look forward with abiding faith in the power of the people to govern themselves. In the contest which is just over there was no large silent vote, which has to be figured upon for the future; and there was no third ticket with a large vote, whose future action must be taken into consideration, but in an open face-to-face conflict, with the full expression of the entire vote of the State, our plurality in Kentucky is established.

The fact that the majority of the voters in this State have awakened to the true conditions that surround them and the only remedies that exist for the correction of the evils we suffer from, and stand for the right, justifies us in calling upon those who wish to purify the State by a non-partisan protection of the ballot and an elevation of the judiciary above partisan influence to prepare again and wage a still stronger and more successful fight next year.

There will be no contest over the gubernatorial vote. There is no tribunal to which he can appeal with any hope of an impartial hearing.

It is not within the province of this committee to decide for the party or congressional candidates who is advisable with regard to the electoral vote or Congressional seats.

STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

OVERDOSE OF COUGH SYRUP

Enough to End the Little One's Existence, but the Doctor Saved Her.

The four-year-old daughter of John Davenport, Jr., living near the Baptist church on the hill, swallowed on Monday afternoon what would have proven a fatal dose of cough syrup if it had not been for timely arrival of the doctor. Mrs. Davenport had given the little one a dose of the cough syrup and then handed the bottle to the old maid, telling her to put it away. The little girl liked the taste and drank about two-thirds of the bottle full before putting it away. It was a fifty-cent bottle of one of the popular cough syrups, nearly all of which contain a certain proportion of morphine, and the dose contained enough to put the child asleep. Some one in the next room noticed a moment later that the bottle was almost empty and the doctor was called. When Dr. Chastain arrived the child was getting drowsy and wanted to go to bed. An emetic gave relief in a short while and the child was saved.

JUDGE PRATT

May Recover the Office to Which He Was Elected By the People.

HE WILL APPEAL HIS CASE.

Chance For a Fair Hearing Before the Court of Appeals.

Judge Clifton J. Pratt, who was elected by the people of Kentucky to the office of Attorney General and was later ousted by the Democrats in their general steal of all the State offices, is now in a position to recover his office and to vindicate his wife and careful course before the people of Kentucky. Acting Attorney General Breckinridge will probably be retired and Judge Pratt resume his office through an appeal of the case the Judge is sure to make when Judge E. C. O'Rear takes his seat on the Appellate bench.

When he takes his appeal he will not be deprived of his rights because he is a Republican.

At the time the other minor State officials gave supersedeas bonds and appealed their cases, Judge Pratt declined to appeal and was criticised severely for "quitting" the fight, even by some of his best friends. He did not make public his reasons then, but satisfied all who made private inquiry that his position was stronger than that of the other minor officials, since the law applying to his case differed materially from that governing the others.

Judge Pratt made a determined and tactful fight for the gubernatorial nomination last year. His strength then under all circumstances was a surprise to many. His friends and the people of Kentucky need have no fear that Judge Pratt, justly Kentucky's Attorney General, will push the fight for his and their rights, if possible, to a successful conclusion.

Development of Southern Manufacturers.

Hon. S. N. D. North, chief statistician for the manufacturers in the twelfth census, that of 1900 gives the welcome assurance that there has been a great and rapid increase in the manufacturing in the southern States in the past ten years, and he believes that the southern people will themselves be surprised, as well as gratified at the showing. Such information from an official source so high is of extreme importance. Mr. North's statement is contained in the following:

"National Association of Wool Manufacturers, Washington, D. C., Nov. 1, 1900.—N. F. Thompson, Secretary Southern Industrial Convention, New Orleans, La.—Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge your courteous invitation of October 24 to attend the third semi-annual convention of the Southern Industrial Association, to be held in the city of New Orleans on December 4-8, and to thank you for the same.

"I greatly regret that the duties now devolving upon me, in connection with my work as Chief Statistician for manufacturers in the twelfth census, are of such a character and occupy so large a portion of my time that it will be impossible for me to accept your invitation.

"This work on the census has brought very forcibly to my attention the rapid increase of the manufacturing industries of the south, and I feel justified in saying that when the full statistics are published the southern people will themselves be surprised at this rate of development, as compared with that of the census of 1890. We hope to be able to bring out in full relief this industrial awakening in the southern states, which will prove one of the most interesting features of the census of 1900.

"Trusting that you will have a successful and profitable convention, I remain, very sincerely, S. N. D. North, Secretary."

The southern states have at home all of the material for manufacturing all of the most important articles of daily consumption and the day is not distant when these resources will be fully developed, if only the southern people themselves will show the right sort of enterprise and activity in bringing their rich endowment to the attention of the world. The Southern Industrial Association, whose convention is to be held here next month, is working to that end, and if the business men of New Orleans and of Louisiana fail to give it all the support and encouragement it richly merits, they will be blind to their own interests.—New Orleans Picayune.

Seven Hundred Contested Ballots Decided in His Favor.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 10.—To the Evening Post, Louisville, Ky.: Rhea's majority 145 in district, with about 700 contested ballots decidedly in my favor. Warren County Canvassing Board met yesterday and showed no disposition to do the fair thing by the Republicans. The Democratic Commissioners overruled every motion that gave the Republican ticket an increase. Governor's race practically same as Congressional.

CONGRESS AND THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

District Attorney Hill Says No Action Can Be Taken Save by Resolution.

BLACKBURN SUBJECT TO INQUIRY.

In today's issue of his paper, the Lexington Herald, Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge prints an editorial in which he takes the ground that Congress cannot inquire into the election of any set of electors. As this is a question which possesses particular interest for Kentucky people just now, further investigation into the matter is desirable.

United States District Attorney Hill was interviewed on the subject this morning at his office in the government building.

"If it should develop," said the District Attorney, "that there has been fraud or crookedness in the election of the electors from Kentucky, under the Goebel law, or from any other State under an equally partisan law, Congress, as at present constituted, cannot interfere. That very important point was settled when Mr. Justice Gray, of the United States Supreme Court, handed down a decision in the case of Fitzgerald vs. Green, which was carried up in 1890 from the Federal Court of the District of Eastern Virginia.

The decision is printed in volume 134 of the United States Reports.

"It is there settled that each State has the right to choose the manner of selecting its own presidential electors, and Congress has no right to interfere. The only province of Congress in the premises is to fix the time when the electors shall meet and cast their votes, and the time when the vote shall be counted by the president of the Federal Senate.

"There might be a remedy. Congress could pass a resolution authorizing itself to investigate the election of presidential electors in Kentucky or North Carolina or any other State at the same time it investigated a contest for a Congressional seat."

In some quarters the impression prevails that the Senate cannot investigate the validity of the credentials of J. O. S. Blackburn, but this is a mistake. The Senate can, and doubtless will, inquire into the manner of Blackburn's alleged election as a Senator from Kentucky.—Louisville Evening Post.

Washington, Nov. 14.—W. Steinbiss, of St. Louis, President of the National Building Trades Council, today testified before the Industrial Commission concerning labor organizations, arbitration, strikes and other matters. Mr. Steinbiss was asked: "Is not organized labor looked upon as a trust?"

"Yes," he answered, "and I acknowledge that it is a trust. But it is a trust that benefits mankind."

Red Hot News.

We haven't much news this week, but just feel so good over the election. It is impossible to keep silent any longer, since we swept the earth and scraped the sky for McKinley. Some of the Democrats say that part of the Republicans who voted had been dead for thirty years, for they could smell the brimstone on them. But they just had it a little wrong; the truth is, we made it so hot for them it made them think of the place the Bible speaks of that burns with fire and brimstone.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

When we come to consider the great blessings that have come to the railroad men throughout the United States under Republican legislation, such as the law compelling railroad companies to adopt the safety coupling and air brake, we are at a loss to know why so many of them here on the Henderson division could march up to the polls and slap their benefactors in the face by voting against them. No class of labor in Kentucky has received more benefits financially since the election of Mr. McKinley, than has the train men in fact all employees of the railroad company, has received an increase of wages. The ten per cent cut made under a democratic administration, was restored under republican rule, and in addition to that a still further increase was given them. Men who were satisfied, it permitted to make $75 per month four years ago, now make over $100 per month, but so fully are they controlled by personal interests and the appeal for party regularity that they forget all these things when they go to vote.

It is thought that more railroad men voted at Earlington this election than ever before, business on that day being rather slack, and no call for their labor.

The new depot is nearing completion, and it is thought will be ready for use by December 1st.

A trip by Governor Roosevelt on a special train over the country seems to have had the effect of causing a roll of patriotism to follow, resulting in his triumphant election.

Business on the Henderson division continues good—in fact there seems to be a steady increase as the cold weather approaches.

Bryan's attack on railroads and all other corporations, did not have the desired effect in adding him to secure the presidential plum. Business men, no matter what the avocation is, bitterly resent an attempt to destroy that business built up by investment of their capital, and the cry of traitor simply means the effect to work harder than the fellow who raises such a yell for political purposes.

The sympathies of the many friends of Supervisor Edmonson are extended to him and family in this crisis over the election. Mr. Edmonson, who departed on one dry day last week, was a young lady and was, when taken ill by an attack of typhoid fever, attending school at Hopkinsville. The best of medical aid was summoned, but after several weeks of intense suffering, death came to her relief.

A wreck occurred on the L. H. & St. L. last Saturday night, which knocked the people here out of their Louisville papers Sunday morning.

Word received from former conductor Leslie Reynolds, locates him down in Mississippi at work as a conductor on one of the southern railroads.

Operator C. J. Martin handled the electric returns for the St. Bernard Company, election night. Cal is a good operator, therefore the returns were received as sent.

Philadelphia, Pa., November 5.—Many prominent American railroad men who have just returned from the Paris Exposition report that foreigners in Paris, and Parisians themselves, pay high tribute to the advanced state of railroading in the United States, saying that all the recent improvements adopted in Europe came from America. European representatives acknowledged that their countries were behind in the way of railroad improvements and should awake to a realization of the fact, taking pattern after the United States.

Irwin, Pa., November 6.—One of the most important signal tower stations on the Venetian System is the "B" tower, located near here, and it is in charge of Miss Harriet Hawk. It is in a point in the great railway system where coolness and nerve are tested every moment of the day and night. Miss Hawk is in charge from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. During those hours an average of 75 trains pass the tower. To the east is the sharp Ardara curve that takes the tracks out of the operator's sight within 200 feet of the tower. Just in sight are the switches by which the rails from the double track are made to connect with the four-track system leading into Pittsburgh. It is here that the way-bound freight trains must be crossed over to their tracks to give the right of way to the passenger trains. But all part of this brave west the Turtle Creek branch connects and sends out on the main line the heavy coal trains from Export. "B" must see that they are kept out of the way of regular trains.

There is never a moment in the eight-hour watch of Miss Hawk that there is not the rumble of trains in her ears to remind her of duty. At her table three telegraph instruments click in sharp chorus, giving "B" orders and warning of changes in schedules. The division foreman's telephone is near at hand and over this wire come many other orders for "B."

At the operator's side are the levers that control the intricate switches, and in front on the wall is the indicator that records every movement of the switch rails. Only a cool head and steady hand can manage "B" tower, and Miss Hawk's record there shows that she is possessed of both.—Interstate Manufacturer.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

will generally correct this difficulty. If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk. If you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Foreman Tombs, of the St. Bernard Company, says his building crew is now busy making improvements at the Arnold and Hecla mines.

That the Earlington miners, or a majority of the same voted for full dinner pail, there can be no doubt, as the vote here showed up favorably for a continuance of the present prosperous conditions.

That the U. M. Workers have no influence in this county even at an election, was made plain last Tuesday when the town tickets they supported went down in defeat, both at Mortons and Barnsley, the result is a just rebuke to them as they have become a discordant element in the county and as such are recognized by the peace loving citizens. Simply to stand idly in the way of success for their fellowman, displays no true manhood and shows only a desire to throw obstacles in the way of the man who wants to and will work. Such is their conduct in this county and thus it is people have no confidence in the organization, when they come to cast their vote, or consider other questions of importance, wherein the U. M. Workers are concerned.

So like the wandering Gypsies, they had just as well pull up their tent and move on, for they have rendered the order and come out like men for steady work and good citizenship. The miners at St. Charles stood by their colors last Tuesday and rolled up a big majority for another four years of prosperity. Here is another evidence of the views held by the working men as to the cause of good times and wages. They readily recognize the fact that the free policy and legislation on the part of the republicans is the cause of it. The truth is you can not make a miner believe his dinner pail is empty when he knows it is full.

Some years ago the coal companies of this county lugged for the approach of winter, so that some life would be put into the coal business, but such is not the case now. The coal business here, as the miners well know, has been an great rush almost for the last three years, and if given to them they could 'ot well perform more labor than they now do, so the coming of cold weather will aid the mines but little.

Of course Dick Salmon is following over the fact, that the miners at his place, "Isley," showed up in such fine form on election day, and enabled him to still boast of the fact, that he has the banner Republican precinct in the county. He has taught that labor receives its reward, and as there is not a more untiring worker than Richard is for a good cause, he deserves the belt.

The Barnsley miners are truly happy over the result of the election and the one thing that pleases them above all others is the reelection of McKinley, is the fact that the agitators were given a black eye in the town election, the miners there are now getting all the work they can do and they voted for a continuance of the same.

We are pleased to state that manager Ben W. Robinson is again able to be out, and actively on duty.

The great strike in the East, which for awhile was thought to have been caused for political purposes on behalf of Bryan, totally collapsed, and the state where it occurred, held a great majority in favor of continuing the present prosperous condition of affairs was rolled up.

Not a mining point in the county but what last Tuesday said at the polls that not only did they want a full dinner pail, but a larger one, if possible.

Secretary Atkinson retired early last Tuesday night, and left instructions that should the President of the United States offer him some important position not to awake him before morning.

Foreman John R. Evans says there is no trouble in finding plenty of coal mined at No. 11 mine, but the capacity to haul out same is not sufficient. The company is now talking of increasing the hauling capacity.

In many places the silver miners out West showed their love for the gold standard by voting in favor of sound money and McKinley.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Lieut. De Farramond, French naval attaché here, has been making enquiries as to the American coal along the same line as the French ambassador, M. Paul Cambon, at London, the purpose being to ascertain if the American product was available in place of the Welsh coal and the French briquettes, which are now used by the French naval vessels. As a means of testing the American coal, Lieut. De Farramond is now making enquiries as to the French naval station at Martingues and about 700 tons to the French naval station at New Foundland. The cruiser Cécille, now in American waters, took on a supply of the American coal and has found it entirely satisfactory, although this is attributed to the construction of the French grates, which are made to accommodate the large briquettes. The result of the shipments to New Foundland is taken for granted from the lack of complaint that the coal has proved reasonably satisfactory. On the whole Lieut. De Farramond's observations lead him to the conviction that American coal offers a very satisfactory substitute for the Cardiff and other coal heretofore used exclusively on French vessels.

The Manufacturers' Record congratulates its readers on the results of the national election. After several months of interference with a regime of healthy business and industry political agitation has ended, and ended in a manner which even those who were defeated at the polls will come to recognize is for the best interest of all. The country is now assured that there will be no reversal of the international policy of the government which has placed the United States as leader in world politics, which, being interpreted, is world-struggle for the enlargement of trade opportunities and industrial accomplishment; no change in the fiscal policy, which has aligned this country with other strong nations, and has enabled it to become an investor in England and Germany, where it was once a borrower, and no change in the commercial policy, which has opened new doors to American agricultural and manufacturing products while maintaining the home market and shielding home workers from the competition of their less fortunate brethren of other lands. With this gratifying situation at home the government will now be able to handle in a practical manner the mighty questions of foreign policy, which must be settled without the passion of partisanship or the humors of hysterics and hysteria, and the continued prosperity of America and the peace of the world. Leaving this settlement to the proper powers, the masses of the country may now devote all their energies to their own material concerns.

It is especially fortunate for the South that its business interests can continue their wonderful progress without the sudden interruption which would necessarily have followed the election of Mr. Bryan. The world's history affords no parallel with which to compare the progress of the United States. Its development in industry and commerce and the reputation of the last five years, which has made it the dominating power in the world's industrial life, as wonderful as they have been, are but the faint indications of what is ahead of us. With the settlement of the great questions which have retarded all business interests for the last few months, we enter upon the greatest era of progress in human history. Therefore, the Manufacturers' Record feels that it may well extend its warmest congratulations to every business man in this country.

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Brome-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day.

Official figures of the anthracite coal production for the month of October show the effect of the strike in Pennsylvania. For the month the output was only 818,581 tons, as against 4,899,248 tons in the same month last year and 4,785,000 tons in October of 1898.

Success—Worth Knowing. Forty years' success in the South proves Hughes' Tonic a great remedy for Chills and Malaria Fevers. Better than Quinine. Guaranteed. Try It. At druggists. 50c and $1.00 bottles.

It is claimed that the difficulty of finding coal is experienced in supplying itself with coal is partly due to the fact that there is not enough coal mined to be burned to become coal miners for the wages the French operators are in position to pay. In October coal was from $11 to $18 per long ton in Rouen, with prospect of advance to $15 or $16.

Consult Mrs. Pinkham

No Other Person Has So Wide An Experience with Woman's Ills, Nor Such a Record of Success.—"A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills."—Her Advice Led Miss Farrell to Health.

Examination by a male physician is a hard trial to a delicately organized woman. She dreads the humiliation of it all. She therefore puts it off as long as she dare, and is only driven to it by fear of cancer, polypus, or some dreadful sickness. Most frequently such a woman leaves a physician's office, where she has undergone a critical examination, more or less discouraged. This condition of mind destroys the effect of advice, and she grows worse rather than better. In consulting Mrs. Pinkham, in person or by letter, no hesitation need be felt. The story is told to a woman, and is entirely confidential—to a woman who has listened to thousands of similar stories—and who is so competent to advise women because of vast experience, and because she is a woman. Her advice is absolutely free to all sick women, and her address is Lynn, Mass. Read Miss Farrell's account of how she was sick, and was lead to health by Mrs. Pinkham. She is only one of thousands whom Mrs. Pinkham has cured this year.

Female Weakness Relieved by Mrs. Pinkham.

"I take pleasure in writing you a few lines thanking you for your advice. I did just as you told me in taking your medicine, and owe my life to you. You are like a mother to your sex. I was awful sick, was all run down, and felt sick all over. I looked like a person brought out of the grave. My face was as white as the driven snow. I was always tired after doing a little work, and would have to sit down. I had terrible pains and headaches, and my appetite was not good; also, troubled with shortness of breath. I could not go up one flight of stairs without being tired and having to stop to get my breath. I was feeling just as miserable as could be. I took two bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot express my thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me."—Miss M. S. FARRELL, 35 Devon St., Grove Hall, Boston, Mass.

$5000 BEEWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., $5000 for the purpose of giving to any woman who writes to the Editors of this paper, and who is not genuine, or who publishes her name, the sum of $5000. L. L. L. PINKHAM MEDICAL CO.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1900.

The "paramounts" didn't work. That's suggestive of "mountain banks"—they don't work, except with their mouths.

Mr. BRYAN says he expects to remain "in" in politics "in the future as in the past" and "defend with tongue and pen the principles, etc." Is this an announcement for 1904?

The election returns and the cool frosty weather have infused new life into men and business throughout the country and the wheels of commerce revolve now even more merrily than before.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY was not to be scared into it but now that the election is over and it is not a campaign issue he will recommend a reduction of the war tax in his forthcoming message to Congress.

It might have been better in the way of majorities, but the gain of eighty-seven Republican votes in totals in the two Earlington precincts was quite handsome, was it not? That would do for one year.

DEMOCRATIC announcements for county offices, to be elected in 1901, are already being made. The "regular" democrats seem to realize that if they catch the public worm next year they may be able to win in the morning.

The Georgia Legislature held an election among its members and declared W. J. Bryan elected President, but for some reason he was forced to put away the honor and in his response to that august body said something about the "entire nation."

The official estimate of the total population of the United States is 76,891,000 and upon this basis the per capita circulation in this country on November 1, was $27.82, the highest point ever reached. What a recoil have the prophecies of the free silver calamities of 1896.

A DEFENDER of Bryan and sympathizer with George Washington Aguirre in an ante-election discussion, when the suggestion was made that the American flag would not be pulled down through the election of Mr. Bryan this year, exclaimed, "Oh! damn the flag!" He and his party tried to but they did not succeed, and the flag is not yet condemned except by its enemies who fear it.

It is time Mr. Bryan quit politics after two such signal defeats as those of 1896 and 1900, and the loss to the Republicans of his own State of Nebraska. Like David B. Hill he can no more be classed the national leader of his party but, unlike Hill, he is not even leader in his own State. It is rumored that Mr. Bryan may quit the political strife and seek the consolations of a place in the Christian ministry.

The election in Porto Rico was held and the result proves the complete loyalty of the people of that island to the United States. The Republicans polled 100,000 votes for the Federal ticket and the contest was a narrow one. The Federal ticket was elected by a half mile to the PRESIDENT MCKINLEY's official household is on the most harmonious basis and he has asked each member of his cabinet to retain his portfolio. These men honor the positions they fill and fill them at a financial sacrifice. If vacancies should be made by the voluntary retirement of some of the cabinet members the lightning would strike in about the right place if it were to hit our own John W. Yerkes.

His name is Dennis with a big D. That idol of the modern Democracy in National affairs—idol, "without the consent of any other nation," or his own nation. Defeated again by William McKinley, the statesman and embodiment of the American policy at home and abroad. Defeated by an increased majority in the electoral vote and a probable increase in majority of the popular vote over that startling defeat of 1896. It is time that Mr. Bryan should quit his free silver, craze and Aguirreistic vagaries and subscribe to something in accordance with the American spirit of the times.

Two of the chief "paramounts" that mounted the stump in Hopkins county were Bill Orr and Bud Givens. They mounted a purpose and are both candidates for the office of county judge next year.

Atkinson.

Sarah A. Atkinson, aged 60 years, wife of John B. Atkinson, died at Beechhurst Sanitarium, Louisville, Monday morning, November 12, 1900, at 11:30 o'clock, as the result of an acute attack of nervous prostration from which she suffered several weeks before her death. During the time she was at the sanitarium Mr. Atkinson and daughter, Mrs. Paul M. Moore, went to Louisville several times, making the final trip together Friday night last, when it became apparent her strength could not much longer withstand the ravages of disease. She had been a sufferer from heart trouble for many years and this with other physical ailments culminated in the attack of nervous prostration which produced her death.

On Tuesday the remains were taken from the residence of Samuel H. Newbold, Louisville, a cousin of the deceased, to Philadelphia. Funeral from the residence of Robert Comly, in the latter city, this Thursday morning. Interment in West Laurel Cemetery, where John B., Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, was buried in October, 1880, having died at Swarthmore College, while pursuing his studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson were both natives of New Jersey. She was Sarah A. Black, daughter of William and Ann Black, of Mt. Holly, N. J., where she was married to John B. Atkinson, May 29, 1867. Both were descendants of old Quaker families.

George C. Atkinson and James R. Ash, and Miss Emily Black of Louisville, accompanied Mr. Atkinson and Mrs. Moore to Philadelphia. Eliza McNary, who nursed Mrs. Atkinson during her last illness was also with the party. They are expected to return to Earlington tomorrow night.

SOUTHERN NEGROES.

To Leave For Honolulu To Work On the Big Sugar Plantations.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 13.—A large colony of Southern negroes will leave in a few weeks for Honolulu to work on the big sugar plantations there. The owners of sugar plantations and mills in Honolulu are short of men and have written to this section frequently of late with regard to securing a large delegation of Southern laborers. F. A. Montague and J. T. Manson, who have been working in the great of the race, have secured a half mile to the

and are now at work forming the colony. The negroes are to receive free transportation and lucrative work after landing at Honolulu. So far the project is meeting with success, and it looks as if several thousand negroes will make the trip. Monday twenty-five white men from Nashville and New Orleans left for Honolulu to work in sugar mills.

Honored by Yale.

J. M. Victory, our leading grocer, always anxious to secure for his patrons the best of everything, has not overlooked that great essential of human happiness, good Coffee. He is agent for the famous YALE COFFEES, which are composed of the finest varieties grown, blended by an expert of thirty years' experience, and roasted by an entirely new process, i. e. by the famous gas roasting method by which the aroma is preserved in the bean to a greater extent than is possible by the old style coffee roasting, which drives out or roasting many of its essential qualities.

While this enterprising firm has a full variety of these goods at prices to meet the requirements of everyone desiring a good cup of Coffee, they recommend particularly the blend of Select Mocha and Java, which assures the consumer better satisfaction than any known coffee, and while it is a few cents higher in price than some others represented as being just as good, when you buy this you have the satisfaction of knowing there is none better.

Our handsome new depot is taking on a finished appearance outside and getting in shape on the inside. It will not be long until it is put at the disposal of the public, to their great comfort and satisfaction.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendixitis, Nervous Prostration, Liver failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stay formation of undigested food, regulating the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and had with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower. In liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by St. Bernard drug store.

Body and Soul.

The man's constitution, body and soul are wonderfully united. In the fall both came under the power of sin and death. In redemption deliverance has been provided for both. He that believes with the heart comes with the body to be baptized. It is a token that the whole exterior physical life is to be life too. We need to be on the watch lest the pursuit of the inner life leads us to neglect the external. A heart purified with blood, a body washed with pure water from every stain, these God has joined together. Let us man separate them. Our body is very specially the temple of the Holy Spirit. In the body the Father is to be glorified. Like Christ, we must yield our body with every member, every power, every action, to fulfill His will, to be offered up to Him, to glorify Him. Through the body saint conquered in paradise. In the body he tempted Christ. Our eating and drinking, our sleeping, our clothing, our labor and relaxation, these things have more influence on our spiritual life than we know.—Andrew Murray.

Workers For Civilization.

I wish it were in my power to convey my experience to those people—those well meaning people—who speak about the inefficiency of foreign missions. I think if they really could realize but a tenth part of the work that is being done and the work that has been done they would realize that no more practical work, no work more productive of fruit for civilization, could exist than that work being carried on by the men and women who give their lives to preach the gospel of Christ man-kind—the men and women who not only have preached, but have done; who have made action follow pledge, thereby acquiring with promise—Governor Roosevelt.

What People Rarely Consider.

The might have been things give much regret. We see what was at one time possible to us, and feel that we have lost something. Quite possibly we are mistaken. That might have been, if realized, might have brought with itself other things full of danger and evil—United Presbyterian.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe, and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Hoshe's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by dealers in all civilized countries.
